

The False Prophet: Pope Francis?

Part 2

Is Pope Francis the False Prophet? In a private moment of reflection after watching one of his cardinals state that the head of the Roman Catholic Church was too busy speaking about the environment, addressing migrant issues, and “carrying on the work of the church” to address victims of the Church’s horrific sex abuse scandal, the Pontiff suddenly realized he might actually be the eschatological Antichrist.

“Oh man,” he murmured as he took a good, hard look at himself in the mirror. “Too busy talking about the environment to care for those abused by the Church? That sounds so bad. I wonder if I’m actually the Antichrist. Or at least an antichrist, like the ones John wrote about.” He took a few minutes to think about it, shaking his head and muttering to himself.

The Pope then flipped through biblical passages talking about the evil antagonist in the book of Revelation, trying to figure out if his suspicions were accurate. “Yup. Ugh. The large, ornate hat does seem to fit,” he was forced to admit at length.

The rumors are everywhere! The talk shows, the Internet, and the prophecy newsletters are all abuzz with the same question: Will Pope Francis is the last pope? So, where did all these rumors come from?

St. Malachy was the Archbishop of Armagh, Ireland. He claimed he experienced a vision while visiting Rome in 1139 A.D. He said he saw every pope that would exist from the time of his vision until the last pope. The last pope would be the 112th from the time of his vision. Malachy also stated that God would judge His people and the city of Rome would be destroyed during the reign of the last pope. In Malachy’s vision, a clue was given as to the identity of each pope, including the 112th one. The clue for the 112th pope was “Peter the Roman”.

St. Malachy wrote his vision of the popes down, and it is believed the manuscript was given to Pope Innocent II. The prophecy of the popes was then deposited in the Vatican Secret Archives and forgotten until its rediscovery in 1590. Malachy’s vision was then published in 1595 and has circulated on and off ever since.

It was not until 2005 that Malachy’s prophecies began to attract a lot of attention. Pope John Paul II was on his deathbed. Someone noticed that he was the 110th pope from Malachy’s time. That meant the next pope would be the 111th and then, if Malachy’s prophecy were true, the 112th pope would be the last pope. To some that meant the end of the world would then come.

When John Paul II died on April 2, 2005, articles were written pointing out that the pope who would replace John Paul II would be the 111th pope. An article entitled “Only One More Pope?” was published on April 18, the day before the election of the new pope. In this article, the author, Anvar Alikhany, wrote the following: “The next Pope, whose name will be announced shortly, is described in the prophecies as Gloria Olivae, or ‘The glory of the olive.’ What exactly does this clue mean? We cannot tell as yet. Some believe that it means he will come from the Benedictine order, which is symbolized by the olive. Others argue that the olive signifies Israel. As in the case of many prophets and seers, St Malachy’s clues often become clear to us only after the fact.”

Alikhany’s article continued, “As the College of Cardinals works feverishly to elect the successor to Pope John Paul II over the next few days, they will have to wrestle with various criteria — political, organizational, theological and moral. And to make things more complicated, they may also want to make sure that, in order to forestall any further doom saying, whoever they choose has absolutely nothing to do with the words ‘The glory of the olive.’ But with these things you can never really tell: the description often manifests itself only much later.”

On April 19, the very next day after Alikhany’s article, Cardinal Joseph Ratzinger of Germany was elected as the new pope. Everyone breathed a collective sigh of relief. After all, there was no such thing as a “Ratzinger olive”. It looked like the St. Malachy prophecy had failed. However, Ratzinger announced the name under which he would occupy the papacy— Benedict XVI. There is always a reason behind the names that new popes choose to reign under. So, why Benedict?

The original Benedict became the founder of the Benedictine order, one of the most prominent orders in the Roman Catholic Church. And the symbol of the Benedictine order? The olive! Now Malachy’s prophecy seemed more credible than ever!

Benedict XVI was 78 years of age when he began his papacy. Because of his advanced age, it was obvious that his reign as the Bishop of Rome could not last too long. Everyone understood the next pope, according to St. Malachy, would be the last pope. Malachy also said the church would be judged, Rome would be destroyed, and implied that the end of the world would come during this final papacy. The question on everyone’s mind was: How long till the 112th pope?

On February 11, 2013, Pope Benedict shocked the world by announcing his intention to resign from the papacy. This was the first resignation of a pope while in office in over 600 years. Benedict said that, at the age of 85, he no longer had the strength to execute the duties of leading the Roman Catholic Church.

It was time to elect the 112th pope foretold in the vision of St. Malachy! The speculation concerning who would ascend to the Chair of Peter was unprecedented. The clue given for the identity of the last pope in the Malachy vision was “Peter the Roman.” Two of the top ten likely candidates for the papacy had names containing the name Peter. One of them was Tarcisio Pietro Evasio Bertone, born in Romano Canavese, Italy and serving as Vatican

Secretary of State since 2006. Peter from Romano? Many thought that surely this would be the final pope.

The Cardinals all descended upon Rome for the pending conclave. Preliminary discussions were held among them as to what kind of pope was needed at this particular juncture of the church. The horrible problem of sexual abuse by priests just wouldn't go away. Who could successfully deal with that?

Pope Benedict's butler had seen so much corruption in the Vatican that he decided to pass some 1,000 of the pope's most sensitive documents to an Italian journalist who then published the documents for the world to see. The butler said he meant no harm to Pope Benedict, but felt the church desperately needed to be purged of the corruption that he had witnessed at the highest levels. Then there was the dramatic decline in church income because of the shaken confidence produced by all the sexual scandals. Several billion dollars had been paid out from church funds just to settle the sexual abuse lawsuits.

On March 12, 2013, the Cardinals entered the Vatican, and doors were locked. Would this be a long conclave or a short one? No one knew. They were about to choose the 112th pope.

The first papal ballot was taken that afternoon. Soon black smoke emanated from the chimney of the Sistine Chapel. No pope was elected. On March 13, two votes were taken in the morning. Again, black smoke...no election. After lunch, the Cardinals were to cast two more ballots. What was going on inside the Sistine Chapel? No one outside knew. Total secrecy was enforced. The afternoon session continued late into the evening. No smoke—white or black. Because the signal was delayed so long, some began to speculate that a pope had been chosen. Finally, the white smoke billowed out of the chimney of the Sistine Chapel. Soon thereafter, the announcement was made, "Habemus Papam". We have a pope!

Overlooking St. Peter's Square, the announcement was made that Cardinal Jorge Mario Bergoglio of Argentina had been elected pope. His father was an Italian who moved to Argentina. Bergoglio was born in Buenos Aires on December 17, 1936. From 1973 to 1979 he was Argentina's Provincial superior of the Society of Jesus, became Archbishop of Buenos Aires in 1998, and was created cardinal in 2001. He was 76 years of age when elected pope and chose to take the name Pope Francis for his papal name. Francis is the first non-European pope and the first pope ever elected from the Jesuit order.

Since becoming a priest, Bergoglio has been especially known for living a humble life and ministering to the poor. While Archbishop of Buenos Aires, he refused to live in the elegant bishop residence, choosing rather to live in a small apartment. He declined the use of the normal archbishop's limousine, instead riding the bus to his office each day. As soon as Bergoglio was elected, it became obvious that he intended to continue living his frugal and humble lifestyle as pope. When it was time to present him to the crowd waiting in St. Peter's Square and to the world, he declined to step up on the platform provided for him. Instead, he said to the other prelates, "I'll stay down here with you."

Before he bestowed the traditional papal blessing on the crowd below, he asked them first of all to pray for him. A few days later during Easter week, he washed the feet of twelve young inmates in a nearby prison, including two female prisoners and a Muslim. This kind of condescension was shocking to the hierarchy of the church, but played very well to the new pope's worldwide audience.

Then Pope Francis decided that he would not reside in the papal residence used by his predecessors since 1903. Instead, he would make his home in the much more modest Vatican guesthouse.

It immediately became apparent to all that this was going to be a much different pope. Pope Francis—a name never taken by a pope before, washing the feet of common prisoners, and refusing to live in the papal palace. Had the cardinals gotten more than they had bargained for? Only time would tell!

Ignatius of Loyola founded the Jesuits in 1534 AD. The Jesuits, also known as the Society of Jesus, took a vow of absolute obedience to the pope. Rule 13 of Ignatius' Rules for Thinking with the Church said: "That we may be altogether of the same mind and in conformity...if the Church shall have defined anything to be black which to our eyes appears to be white, we ought in like manner to pronounce it to be black."

One of the original purposes of the Jesuits was to stem the tide of the reformation. The Jesuit order eventually grew until it became the largest order in the Catholic Church. The Society of Jesus was also known as the "pope's marines". In more recent times, the doctrine of Liberation Theology has been embraced by much of the Jesuit order. Liberation Theology teaches that if Jesus were on earth today, He would be a Marxist. He would take from the rich and give to the poor.

During the 1960s and 1970s, many young Jesuit priests embraced Liberation Theology. The movement especially took root in Nicaragua and throughout South America. The idea was actually promoted in Jesuit schools that "to be a Christian today, one must also be a revolutionary." Consequently, many priests actually laid aside their priestly garments, exchanging them for machine guns. During this time, many of the priests ended up in government as they sought to enthrone Marxism under the guise of "social justice". To understand the role of South American Jesuits in the promotion of Marxism is important at this time because Pope Francis is a South American Jesuit and is an avid promoter of social justice, which is Marxism. Pope Francis has been a Jesuit for more than 40 years. So Jesuit history is his history.

Francis led the Jesuits in Argentina from 1973 to 1979, a period during which the order was essentially feuding with the Vatican. The pope at the time, Paul VI, accused the Jesuits of “loose discipline.” He thought the superior general of the Jesuits, Fr. Pedro Arrupe, should have been cracking down on his priests in Latin America who were practicing Liberation Theology. Francis (then Bergoglio) would’ve followed the conflict closely, and seems to have split the difference between the two sides. He criticized Liberation Theology for its Marxist roots but embraced its ethic of “a preferential option for the poor.” As Archbishop of Buenos Aires, he raised awareness of poverty and spoke about social justice.

Pope Francis’ outward simplicity hides a steely determination to advance Jesuit principles, especially on the importance of traditional Catholic teachings and protection of the poor and the oppressed. That determination emerged during Bergoglio’s service as the top Jesuit leader of Argentina beginning in 1973. It was said of him, “He was a tough guy who made sure his men toed the mark.”

Returning to the question of the prophecy of St. Malachy, we need to ask, “Does the Bible Agree with the Prophecy of Malachy? I’m not decided on the Prophecy of St. Malachy.

The prophecy of St. Malachy contains five elements:

1. There is going to be a final pope.
2. During his reign, the Roman Catholic Church will be judged.
3. During his papacy, Rome, the city of seven hills, will be destroyed.
4. The last pope will be the 112th pope from 1139 AD.
5. The clue to his identity is “Peter the Roman”.

The prophecies of the Bible perfectly agree with the first three points of the Malachy prophecy. The Bible foretells that there will be a final pope. It states that judgment will be poured out on the Roman Church during the reign of the last pope. And the Scriptures graphically portray the destruction of Rome, the city of seven hills, during the reign of the final pope.

How Do the Bible’s Prophecies Differ from Malachy? The Scriptures do not say several things that the prophecy of Malachy says about the final pope. They also give us much more information about the last pope than Malachy gave. The differences are as follows:

1. The Bible states that a final pope is coming. However, it does not say he will be the 112th pope from 1139 AD.
2. The Scriptures say nothing about “Peter the Roman”.
3. The Bible says the last pope will be in alliance with the world’s last political leader – the Antichrist.
4. The Scriptures call the last pope the False Prophet.
5. The biblical prophecies say the final pope will perform many signs and lying wonders, even pulling down fire from heaven. These miracles will be used to deceive the people of the world.
6. The final pope will influence the world to give their allegiance to the Antichrist and his one-world government.

7. The False Prophet will endorse a program of global socialism, causing all people to receive a mark or number that will be required for buying and selling. This “Mark of the Beast” will apparently be a global scheme for wealth redistribution (social justice).
8. The Second Coming of Jesus will end the reign of the Antichrist and the False Prophet. At that time they will both be cast into the lake of fire (Revelation 19:20).

Will Pope Francis be the False Prophet?

As Part 1 of this series, there are some factors that seem to indicate Pope Francis could well be the False Prophet while others would argue against it.

The Pros:

1. The Holy Roman Empire, which will be in power during the reign of the Antichrist and the False Prophet, was reborn on November 3, 2009.
2. We are moving into a system of global governance right now through the process of globalization.
3. Most of the world is presently rejecting capitalism and embracing socialism.
4. All the prophecies that are to occur during the reign of the Antichrist and the False Prophet are shaping up at this time.
5. Pope Francis is a strong proponent of “social justice”, which is simply a politically correct term for socialism.
6. Pope Francis’ lifestyle of humility and simplicity is causing him to become very popular very quickly.
7. Pope Francis is the first Jesuit pope ever.

The Cons

The biggest factor against Pope Francis fulfilling the Bible’s prophecies about the False Prophet is his age. He was born December 17, 1936, making him 83, soon to be 84.

There is a seven-year period that will begin upon the signing of a Palestinian-Israeli peace agreement. The reign of the Antichrist and the False Prophet will be terminated at the end of this seven-year period. If the final seven years started next year, which doesn’t appear likely at this time, the pope would be 84 at the time of Armageddon. If the final seven years begins in two or three years, the pope would be even older by the time all of the prophesied world events culminated. Although it’s not impossible that the False Prophet could fulfill his prophesied role at the age of 86 or 87, it doesn’t appear likely.

Outside of the age factor, it appears that Pope Francis, with his strong embrace of social justice, could qualify as the last pope. If Malachy's prophecy that the 112th pope will be the last pope is true, then Francis is definitely the False Prophet. However, we must remember that the Bible doesn't say this, and the Bible must always be our final authority, not Malachy.

The bottom line is that we can't yet say for sure whether this pope is the final one or whether a future pope will fulfill that role. We will just have to wait and see how events develop. But it certainly is going to be interesting, isn't it?

With what has been revealed, let's turn to some of the observations made about Pope Francis. Much of Europe, views Pope Francis as either the Antichrist or the False Prophet.

13 TITLES BESTOWED ON 'POPE FRANCIS'

'Pope Francis' has made the covers of Rolling Stone, The Advocate, and Vanity Fair. He has been praised by some of the most unlikely of personalities such as Bill Maher, Elton John, Jane Fonda, Chris Rock, Oprah Winfrey, Susan Sarandon, and many, many more. He has had emojis, hashtags, and apps created in his honor and films made about his life. The World has also given him numerous glowing titles, including:

- 1. *The Rockstar Pope
- 2. *Rebel Pope
- 3. *Super Pope
- 4. *The People's Pope
- 5. *New World Pope

6. The Selfie Pope
7. The Tweetable Pope
8. Pope of the Poor
9. The Great Reformer
10. Coollest Pope of All Time
11. Revolutionary Pope
12. The Radical Pope
13. The Humble Pope

Here are 13 titles which may be more fitting to the one known as 'Pope Francis':
The False Prophet, Ravenous Wolf, Destroyer, Barabbas, The Deceitful Worker, False Teacher, Impostor, Double-Minded Man, The Divider, A Religious Deception, Worker of Iniquity, The Strong Delusion, and Anathema.

Pope Benedict XVI

"The Pope's ministry is a guarantee of obedience to Christ and to His Word. He must not proclaim his own ideas, but rather constantly bind himself and the Church to obedience to God's Word, in the face of every attempt to adapt it or water it down, and every form of opportunism."

13 STRANGE SIGNS RELATED TO 'POPE FRANCIS'

Of course it can seem fantastical and even "conspiratorial" to point out that on Pentecost Day, June 8, 2014, as the first-ever Islamic prayers were being uttered at the Vatican, an asteroid named 'The Beast' flew by earth. It is by definition a coincidence and could absolutely mean nothing – or possibly reveal everything. Either which way, it is the truth and it is strange. Here are some more unsettling coincidences:

1. On February 11, 2013 lightning struck St. Peter's Dome twice just hours after Pope Benedict XVI announced his resignation.

2. On March 13, 2013, the first words from Jorge Mario Bergoglio as 'Pope Francis' were: 'Brothers and sisters, good evening. You all know that the duty of the Conclave was to give a bishop to Rome. It seems that my brother Cardinals have gone almost to the end of the world to get him, but here we are.'

3. On March 14, 2013, the very day after the election of 'Pope Francis', the Grand Master of the Grand Orient Masonic Lodge of Italy issued a statement congratulating Jorge Bergoglio on his win. The high-level mason's words, just one day after the release of 'Pope Francis' onto the world seem highly improbable and even eerily prophetic to say the least. He wrote: "A man of the poor and far from the Curia. Fraternity and dialogue are his first concrete words: maybe in the new Church nothing will ever be like before. It is our auspicious that Francesco's pontificate, the pope who 'comes from the end of the world' may signify the return of the Church-Word versus the Church-institution, promoting an open relationship with the contemporary world, with non-believers and not through the springtime of Vatican II. The Jesuit who is close to the last of history has the great opportunity to show the world the face of a Church that must recuperate the annunciation of a new humanity, not the weight of an institution sheltered in defense of its own privileges. Bergoglio knows real life and will remember the lesson of one of his landmark theologizes, Romano Guardini, who said truth and love cannot be separated. The simple cross that he wore on his white vest gives us hope that a Church of the people may find again the ability to dialogue with all men of good will and with Free Masonry which, as the Latin America experience teaches, works for the common good and progress of humanity, following Bolivar, Allende and Jose' Marti' to mention a few. This is the 'white smoke' that we are waiting for from the Church of our time." – Gustavo Raffi, Grand Master, Grande Oriente d' Italia, March 14, 2013.

4. In October, 2013 the Vatican had to recall Pope Francis medals because the name of JESUS was misspelled.

5. Soon after Jorge Mario Bergoglio adopted the name 'Pope Francis', Google Translate equated the name "Bergoglio" to "better world" in all languages.

6. Fires, Earthquakes, and Snakes – Just before his arrival in Jordan, an earthquake struck Israel near its border with Jordan. Fires were reported in 2 churches in Israel (Cenacle in Jerusalem and Bethlehem's Church of the Nativity) right after 'Pope Francis' visit. 14 people were bitten by snakes during a Mass conducted by 'Pope Francis' in Paraguay.

7. BERGOGLIO = 666 – ASCII is the code read by all computers for simple text. It is the universal "language" of computers for basic letters and symbols. Each letter is represented by a number. If you "translate" the name "BERGOGLIO" from letters into ASCII code and add up the numbers, the result is 666. Please do check this for yourself.

March 13, 2013 – Jorge Bergoglio became 'Pope Francis' on March 13, 2013, the same day that Xi Jinping (who recently vowed to take the lead in shaping the “new world order”) formally became President of China, and the 16th anniversary of the Phoenix Lights phenomenon.

March 13, 1826 – the date Pope Leo XII promulgated Quo Graviora, an Apostolic Constitution decreeing the prohibition of membership in Masonic Lodges in perpetuity.

March 13, 483 – Pope Felix III was elected. He is often quoted as saying “Not to oppose error is to approve it; and not to defend truth is to suppress it, and, indeed, to neglect to confound evil men—when we can do it—is no less a sin than to encourage them.” Pope Felix excommunicated Peter Mongus, who had taken the See of Alexandria, which brought about a schism between East and West until 519.

DECEMBER 17 (Jorge Mario Bergoglio was born on December 17, 1936)

December 17, 1936 (Jorge Bergoglio's date of birth) – Saint Faustina Kowalska recorded this in her diary: "I have suffered more today than ever before, both interiorly and exteriorly. I did not know it was possible to suffer so much in one day."

December 17, 1538 – King Henry VIII was excommunicated by Pope Paul III. King Henry was married six times and was the main instigator of the English Reformation.

December 17, 2012 – reportedly the day Pope Benedict XVI decided to resign. It was this day that he was presented with the "red dossier" (a 300 page report compiled by three cardinals about the "Vatileaks" scandal).

December 17, 2014 – US President Obama announced an historic deal with Cuba facilitated by 'Pope Francis'

December 17th – the last day of the little known "13th sign of the zodiac", Ophiuchus, "The Serpent Bearer"

FEBRUARY 11/12

February 11, 2012 – a prophet wrote "Pope Benedict XVI will be ousted from the Holy See of Rome".

February 11, 2013 – Pope Benedict XVI announced his 'resignation'

February 12, 2013 – Banking regulators had suspended all ATM machines and credit card transactions within the Vatican on January 1, 2013. The 'freeze' was lifted on February 12, 2013 – exactly one day after Pope Benedict XVI announced his resignation.

9. In January, 2014 'Pope Francis' peace doves were attacked by a crow and a seagull. The traditional peace doves have been replaced with balloons.

10. Imagine by John Lennon – Twice the song has been sung in honor of 'Pope Francis'. Once by Disney soap actress Martina Stoessel in September, 2014 at his "Soccer Match for Peace" and once by Shakira following his speech at the United Nations in September, 2015. The lyrics include: "Imagine there's no heaven, It's easy if you try, No hell below us, Above us only sky...Imagine there's no countries, It isn't hard to do, Nothing to kill or die for, And no religion too..."

11. In March of 2014 'Pope Francis' accidentally said "the 'F' Word". Pope Francis dropped the F-bomb in front of the Vatican public during his the weekly blessing, Sunday.

Giving the sermon in Italian, the pope amazed the people by unintentionally uttering the F-word. It was seemingly a slip of tongue. He intended to use the word 'caso' but the pronunciation was such that it sounded exactly like 'casa' that translates to f in Italian.

He was actually talking about the political crisis in Ukraine. All he meant was "In this case (caso)," before saying 'casa,' reports The Los Angeles Times. This is obviously a common mistake any non-Italian speaker would do.

12. In January, 2015 while visiting the Philippines 'Pope Francis' displayed the devilish horned hand sign. (This is covered at length here: Pope Francis and The Devils Horns)

13. This three-eyed occult laden graphic is the logo created for 'Pope Francis' Jubilee of Mercy:

Saint Paul

"The coming of the lawless one is apparent in the working of Satan, who uses all power, signs, lying wonders, and every kind of wicked deception for those who are perishing, because they refused to love the truth and so be saved. For this reason God sends them a powerful delusion, leading them to believe what is false, so that all who have not believed the truth but took pleasure in unrighteousness will be condemned."

– The Second Epistle to the Thessalonians –

13 OPERATIVES ELEVATED BY 'POPE FRANCIS'

Fr. James Martin, SJ, introducing Metallica on The Colbert Report. 'Pope Francis' made Martin a communications consultant to Holy See's Secretariat for Communications in 2017

When asked about opposition to his agenda 'Pope Francis' once said "I continue my path without being sidetracked. I do not behead people. I never have liked it. Let me repeat: I reject conflict. You remove a nail by applying pressure upwards. Or you tranquilize them, put them to the side, when they reach retirement age. This is one way he deals with those in his way, but he also lifts up key players who mirror himself and are in line with his goals, including:

1. Robert Barron was made a Bishop by 'Pope Francis'. Barron is a media priest who became known for his YouTube videos, movie reviews, and DVD series. His website (wordonfire.org) describes him as "one of the most-followed Catholics in the world on social media". He was ordained by Cardinal Joseph Bernardin. In one of his YouTube videos ("Bishop Barron on Whether Hell is Crowded or Empty") he said: "Are any human beings in Hell? We don't know. We don't know. The Church has never declared on that subject and, and we may pray that all be saved and may even reasonably hope that all people be saved." He also writes books and in one (The Priority of Christ) he writes: "As mother of the Lord, she (the Virgin Mary) is, once again, Israel, the entire series of events and system of ideas from which Jesus emerged and in terms of which he alone becomes intelligible. Hans Urs von Balthasar comments in the same vein that Mary effectively awakened the messianic consciousness of Jesus through her recounting of the story of Israel to her son."

2. Cardinal Schönborn was chosen by 'Pope Francis' to give the press conference for the release of Amoris Laetitia and 'Pope Francis' later directed reporters to refer to him for its interpretation. In 2006, Schönborn's Cathedral in Vienna offered a blessing for unmarried couples on Valentine's Day that included homosexual partners. He has said: "There can be same-sex partnerships and they need respect, and even civil law protection." Twice (April 16, 2016, and June 16, 2016) 'Pope Francis' mistakenly stated that Cardinal Schönborn had been the Secretary of the Congregation for the Doctrine of Faith. He never was.

3. Cardinal Kasper has been called 'The Pope's Theologian' and often praised by 'Francis' himself. His proposal for a 'pastoral solution' to giving Holy Communion to divorced and remarried persons was the forerunner of Amoris Laetitia. He has said: "We must describe many of the gospel miracle stories as legendary. Legends of this sort should be examined less for their historical than for their theological content." and more recently (December, 2016) "I hope that the next declaration opens the way for shared Eucharistic communion in special cases."

4. Kenneth Copeland is an American televangelist with a global ministry who has been called 'The Godfather of Prosperity Gospel'. CBS News reported: "In one TV sermon after another Kenneth Copeland and wife Gloria implore viewers to sow the seeds of their faith by following God's Word and donating dollars, promising a hundred fold return in happiness and wealth." Copeland has been investigated by the United States Senate and the Internal Revenue Service. Numerous former employees have called the ministry a 'bottom line business'. In 1990 Kenneth Copeland said of the Crucifixion: "The righteousness of God was made to be sin. He accepted the sin nature of Satan in His own spirit. And at the moment that He did so, He cried, "My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken Me?" You don't know what happened at the cross. Why do you think Moses, upon the instruction of God, raised a serpent up on that pole instead of a lamb? That used to bug me. I said, "why in the world would you want to put a snake up there – the sign of Satan? Why didn't you put a lamb up on that pole?" And the Lord said, "Because it was the sign of Satan that was hanging on the cross." He said, "I accepted in my own spirit, spiritual death, and the light was turned off." This is the person 'Pope Francis' decided to reach out to and begin his 'miracle of unity' via "Bishop" Tony Palmer. (please see Breaking Bread – Pope Reshaping The Eucharist)

5. Cardinal Godfried Danneels was handpicked by 'Pope Francis' to attend and participate in the Synod on Marriage and the Family. Cardinal

Danneels confessed to being part of a secret club of cardinals, a radical "mafia" reformist group opposed to Pope Benedict XVI. He called it a "mafia" club that bore the name of St. Gallen. The group wanted a drastic reform of the Church, to make it "much more modern", and for Cardinal Jorge Bergoglio (now Pope Francis) to head it. (please see Cardinal Confesses to 'Mafia' Club Against Pope Benedict XVI)

6. Archbishop Victor Manuel Fernández is a friend and advisor to 'Pope Francis' and most likely the ghost writer of both Laudato Si and Evangelii Gaudium. He has also written a book titled Heal me with your Mouth: The Art of Kissing. Archbishop Fernández has said of 'Francis': "The pope goes slow because he wants to be sure that the changes have a deep impact. The slow pace is necessary to ensure the effectiveness of the changes. He knows there are those hoping that the next pope will turn everything back around. If you go slowly it's more difficult to turn things back... . You have to realize that he is aiming at reform that is irreversible...No, there's no turning back. If and when Francis is no longer pope, his legacy will remain strong. For example, the pope is convinced that the things he's already written or said cannot be condemned as an error. Therefore, in the future anyone can repeat those things without fear of being sanctioned."

7. Greg Burke was promoted to Director of the Holy See Press Office replacing Father Lombardi. Greg Burke is a former correspondent for Fox News and Time Magazine and has been called "The PR Genius" and "Marketing Mastermind" who "helped make the Pope popular". He is a numerary of Opus Dei. (please see New World Pope – Marketing Machine)

8. Hans Schellnhuber was appointed by 'Pope Francis' to serve on the Pontifical Academy of Sciences and advise him on Laudato Si. He was chosen to be one among four speakers to speak during the release of the climate change Encyclical. Schellnhuber is a self-professed atheist who has written: "Although effects such as the glaciations may still be interpreted as over-reactions to small disturbances — a kind of cathartic geophysiological fever — the main events, resulting in accelerated maturation by shock treatment, indicate that Gaia faces a powerful antagonist. Rampino has proposed personifying this opposition as Shiva, the Hindu god of destruction." (please see Catholic Churches Welcome Gaia and Krishna)

9. George Clooney was awarded the Olive Medal for Peace along with Richard Gere and Salma Hayak by 'Pope Francis'. Clooney was raised

Catholic but now says: "I don't believe in Heaven and Hell. I don't know if I believe in God. All I know is that as an individual, I won't allow this life – the only thing I know to exist – to be wasted." At the awards ceremony Clooney said: "We have to start with schools, because we know that hatred and fundamentalist attitudes have to be taught. We're not born this way, it's a learned behavior. Pope Francis is focusing on schools, because he knows that this is the only way we're going to fight it."

by 'Pope Francis'. Cupich has stopped priests from praying outside abortion facilities, written that 10. Cardinal John Dew was appointed by Pope Francis to the Congregation for Divine Worship and the Discipline of the Sacraments as part of a complete and total overhaul of the congregation on October 28, 2016. Cardinal Dew has said "Our Church would be enriched if we were able to invite dedicated Catholics, currently excluded from the Eucharist, to return to the Lord's table. There are those whose first marriages ended in sadness; they have never abandoned the Church, but are currently excluded from the Eucharist." and also "...we wanted to see language in Church documents changed so that it's something that gives people hope and support and encouragement, rather than being something that appears to many people that they can't sort of meet the mark, that they can't live up to the standards that the Church is asking of them."

11. Archbishop Blaise Cupich was made a Cardinal unemployment and hunger is just as appalling as abortion, and even locked Catholics out of their parish to prevent Traditional Latin Masses from taking place. He has said: "My position is the same as that of Pope Francis, who has indicated that the proper interpretation of Amoris Laetitia was given by Cardinal Christoph Schönborn and then again by the bishops of Argentina, for which the Pope noted 'no further interpretation is needed.'" When questioned about Cardinals seeking clarification on Amoris Laetitia, he said: "I think that if you begin to question the legitimacy or what is being said in such a document, do you throw into question then all the other documents that have been issued before by the other popes. So I think it's not for the pope to respond to that, it's a moment for anyone who has doubts to examine how they got to that position because it is a magisterial document of the Catholic Church."

12. Anna RF is an Israeli "Electro-Ethnic-Reggae musical group" who were part of a group of YouTube artists chosen to meet with 'Pope Francis' at the Vatican in May, 2016. The phrase Anna RF is an Arabic-Hebrew expression which has a double meaning – “I know” and “I don’t know”. The group says it "creates music that combines the beauty of different cultures and brings people together in a joyful celebration of unity. The message of the songs is one of happiness and freedom." You may see part of their meeting with 'Pope Francis' here.

13. Emma Bonino was praised by 'Pope Francis' as one of Italy's 'forgotten greats' and he met with her on November 8, 2016 to discuss the integration of immigrants. Bonino is an abortion rights advocate and there are famous photos of Bonino performing illegal abortions using a homemade device operated by a bicycle pump. She is a former leader of the Radical Party in Italy and a strong supporter of the EU and recently signed the Georges Soros Letter ("As concerned Europeans") calling for stronger European integration.

Saint Paul

"I wonder that you are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ, unto another gospel. Which is not another, only there are some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ. But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach a gospel to you besides that which we have preached to you, let him be anathema. As we said before, so now I say again: If any one preach to you a gospel, besides that which you have received, let him be anathema. For do I now persuade men, or God? Or do I seek to please men? If I yet pleased men, I should not be the servant of Christ."

– Epistle to the Galatians –

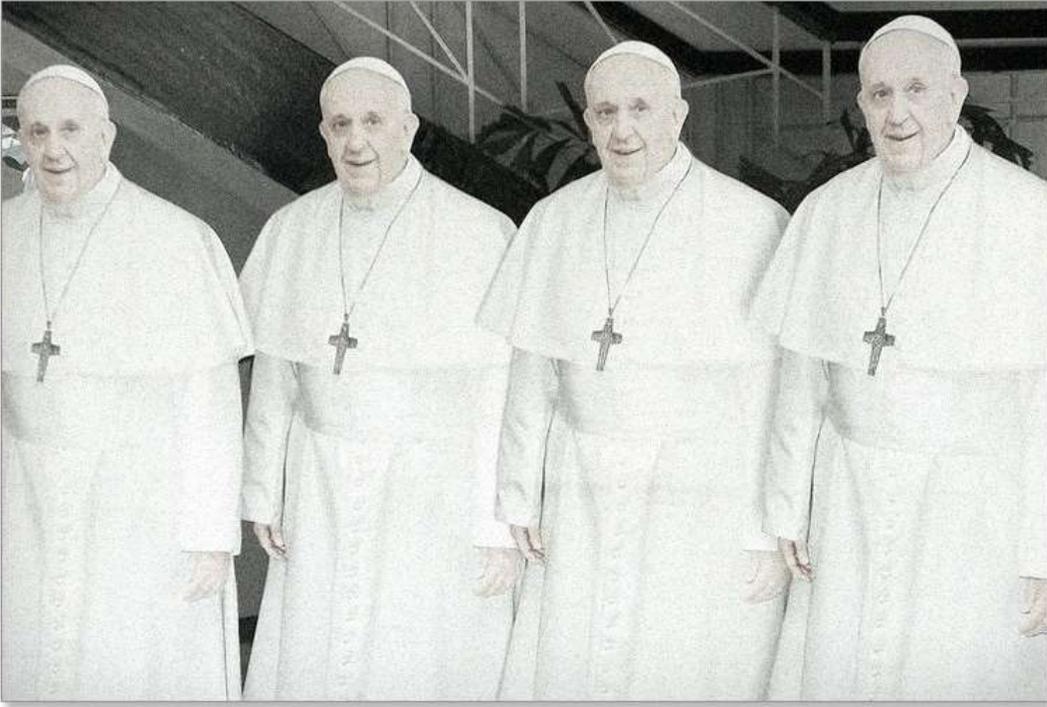

13 PHOTOS OF JORGE BERGOGLIO PLAYING 'POPE FRANCIS I'

Jorge Bergoglio crafts the character of 'Pope Francis' masterfully. His costume consists of black shoes, a silver cross, and lots of big laughs. The target audience is "every living person on this planet". His publicists are the best in the biz, making sure that should he achieve a holy act of humility – such as carrying a suitcase – the world's cameras are there to catch it. The talented Mr. Bergoglio has given a brave dichotomous choice to the Francis illusion by often affecting a strained and even bumbling difficulty with language and pronunciation in some moments, while exhibiting razor sharp multilingual finesse and melodramatic impassioned rhetoric in others. At times, such as when needing to underline his humility by publicly approaching a confessional, he might chose to walk with a vague limp, and yet in others he almost appears to sprint with the vitality of a man a third of his age, such as when greeting fans or giving his trademark thumbs-up blessing. His flashes of anger and scowling looks have quickly become legendary and often leave even seasoned spectators shaken by his natural ability to embody dark intensity. Here he is in action:

Francis told them: "It's not right to convince someone of your faith. Proselytism is the strongest venom against the path of ecumenism."

Jan 8, 2015 – Francis meets with Angelina Jolie (Maleficent, CFR member) at the Vatican.

January 20, 2015 – Los Angeles Times "Some of the most curious images of the pope's recent tour of the Philippines show him flashing what to most music fans is instantly recognizable as the "devil's sign." This ancient hand signal is achieved by extending the index and pinky fingers and retracting the ring and middle fingers (the thumb is optional—Pope Francis leaves it outstretched)..."

Saint Paul

"For there shall be a time, when they will not endure sound doctrine; but, according to their own desires, they will heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears: And will indeed turn away their hearing from the truth, but will be turned unto fables. But be thou vigilant, labour in all things, do the work of an evangelist, fulfill thy ministry. Be sober."

– First Epistle to Timothy –

J E S U S

"When you see a cloud rising from the west, presently you say: A shower is coming: and so it happeneth: And when ye see the south wind blow, you say: There will be heat: and it cometh to pass. You hypocrites, you know how to discern the face of the heaven and of the earth: but how is it that you do not discern this time?"

– Gospel of St. Matthew –

The American Thinker put it well with this remark: "Pope Francis does for church attendance what Colin Kaepernick did for NFL attendance." The comparison is obvious. A new Gallup poll finds a precipitous drop in Catholic Church attendance coinciding with the years of Pope Francis's papacy. Francis is known for shoving secular statist left-wing ideology into church teachings, through both his words and his deeds, just as Colin Kaepernick did with the National Football League. That's clear in what Pope Francis says and in whom he invites into the Vatican to provide advice. And surprise, surprise, the result is the same: the fans and the flock stay away.

Catholic Church attendance in the United States fell by six percent between the pontificates of Pope Benedict XVI and Pope Francis, the sharpest drop in decades, a new Gallup poll has revealed. An average of 39 percent of U.S. Catholics attended church weekly during the heart of the Francis papacy, from 2014 to 2017, Gallup found in a survey released April 9, which represents a significant drop from the 45 percent of Catholics who attended weekly Mass from 2005 to 2008, in the early years of the Benedict pontificate. Michael Voris of "Church Militant" said the loss of church attendance is even worse than this.

The empty pews have the curious redolence of Colin Kaepernick, who created empty seats in America's football stadiums by introducing left-wing protest into National Football League opening ceremonies. It was the specter of a $20-million football player telling the audience paying that salary that they and their country were just too racist for him. No surprise: The audience drifted away, and NFL profits plummeted.

Pope Francis states that welcoming Muslim refugees is the greatest protection against terrorism. Really, Holy Father? Ask the people of France and Germany if they are safer after the Muslim refugee invasion. No doubt, Soros' OSF will enter a gleeful report on the Pope's latest pronouncement. George Soros in a 'Wall Street Journal' Opinion Article states that he will invest $500 Million in refugees.

Here's the real story behind Pope Francis and George Soros:

The drip, drip, drip of more leaked Soros' Open Society Foundation (OSF) documents surfaced in the 'DCLeaks' website to illustrate the ongoing unholy alliance between George Soros and Pope Francis. The Pope appears in the weekly OSF reports as the subject of laudatory and strategic accounts of papal pronouncements and actions promoting Soros' 'new normal' of massive Muslim migration in Europe. While Francis seems oblivious, even the 'DCLeaks' hackers recognize the treacherous and manipulative Soros as a monstrous global threat. 'DCLeaks' introduces its infamous subject accordingly:

George Soros drives more than 50 global and regional programs and foundations. Soros is named as the architect and sponsor of almost every revolution and coup around the world for the last 25 years. Soros is an oligarch sponsoring Democratic party, Hillary Clinton, and hundreds of politicians all over the world. It represents work plans, strategies, priorities and other activities of Soros. These documents shed light on one of the most influential network operating worldwide.

The internal OSF documents also illuminate Pope Francis, as the nascent advocate for the Soros mass migration scheme, as he weekly champions European Muslim migration from behind 39 foot Vatican walls. This massive wall was erected by his predecessor, Pope Leo IV, following an attack by Muslim Saracen pirates who damaged St. Peter's in 846 A.D.. The intractable Francis defense of Islam defies both the historical record and spiritual teaching of the Catholic Church.

Over the centuries, aggressive bloody Muslim invasions informed papal teaching. Pope Callixtus III denounced Islam as a "diabolical sect." Pius II warned against Muhammad as a "false prophet," and Pope Eugene condemned "the abominable sect of Mahomet." In the 16th century, Pope Leo X described the Muslims as replacing the light of salvation with "totally unyielding blindness." Modern day Popes, such as Pius XI described the "darkness of Islam." Pope Francis surely relegates these predecessors and the great Doctor of the Church, St. Thomas Aquinas' description of Islam as "diabolical" to the ash heap of unenlightened bigotry.

Among hacked documents is an OSF memo focusing on Soros' International Migration Initiative which asserts that Europe's refugee crisis should be accepted as a "new normal," and that the refugee crisis means "new opportunities" for Soros' organization to influence immigration policies on a global scale. Soros doles out millions to influence massive global migration, as he recognizes that the European crisis presents "new opportunities" for his New World Order (NWO), where every crisis is exploited and justified as an excuse to eliminate borders, undermine sovereign governments, and degrade individual liberty, in exchange for a one world government governed by the world's elites and oligarchs.

Soros admits that he is heavily involved in the migrant crisis and seeks to eradicate national borders through this crisis. Similar to his U.S. funded radical groups, Black Lives Matter, Occupy Wall Street, ACORN, the Climate Change Movement, the European migration crisis is fueled and agitated by Soros millions to destabilize democracies by creating internal chaos.

In the first two years of his papacy, Francis joined forces with Soros operatives embedded in the Vatican to push for global climate change initiatives at the U.N. Mission Accomplished! Next up, on the Soros New World Order (NWO) agenda lurks mass refugee migration which is well underway in Europe, and soon to flood U.S. shores. Once again, Francis demonstrates his partiality and adherence to the Soros leftist world view.

What do these 'DCLeaks' documents reveal? Soros' team tracks and applauds every move of his papal ally. The Open Society researchers provide weekly updates to the Soros team on Pope Francis and his pro migration pronouncements and actions. The website pulls back the Soros iron curtain to reveal the power and influence of Pope Francis to promote the Soros policy of massive Muslim migration and infiltration in Europe.

“Pope Francis—Refugees Stranded “Because So Many Doors & So Many Hearts Are Closed”: Pope Francis today slammed governments who close their doors to refugees, calling for a more compassionate approach to "people living through a real and dramatic exile, far from their countries, with the ruins of their own homes still in their eyes, fear in their hearts and often suffering from the loss of people dear to them. How is it possible that so much suffering can be inflicted on men, women and innocent children," he said. These people "are there, at frontiers.”

Francis willingly provides the voice of moral outrage for the Soros-driven migrant crisis, as he did in the climate change arena. One especially odious weekly Soros report notes Francis’ politicization of one of the most ancient and sacred Easter Triduum Catholic rituals, the washing of feet. The Soros team was acutely aware of the important political significance of Francis using a holy event to promote his political message:

On March 23, 2016 Pope Francis went to a prison to wash the feet of refugees in an Easter Ritual: Pope Francis visited a refugee center to wash the feet of 12 young refugees in an Easter Week ritual. A Vatican official said the choice of the center was highly symbolic given the current migration crises. "He means to tell us that at this historic time, we must pay attention to the weakest and that we are called to restore their dignity without falling into subterfuge," the official said. The fact that most of the residents aren’t Catholic "is an even more eloquent" sign that respecting one another is the best path to peace. "By washing the refugees’ feet, Pope Francis is asking for respect for each one of them." The ritual is meant to be a gesture of service, and re-enacts a rite Jesus performed on his apostles before being crucified delights in his every word and move.”

Francis knows he enjoys worldwide attention as he coyly chooses symbolic gestures to underscore and promote his leftist politics. As the entry below indicates, the Vatican acknowledges that Francis’ choice of Muslim migrants is intentional to send a strong political message. The Vicar of Christ is carrying out the tradition of Jesus Christ who washed the feet of his Apostles before his crucifixion. Rather, Francis consciously chooses to wash the feet of primarily Muslims who do not believe in Jesus Christ. Islam teaches its followers that Catholics are the Infidel. Yet, Francis leaps at the opportunity to send a political message which crassly exploits a profoundly sacred Catholic tradition for trendy political purposes.

Pope Francis worked hand-in-hand with President Obama to re-establish relations with Communist Cuba, Whether he is the Antichrist, the False Prophet, is still in question, but, make no mistake about it, he is the pope working to create a “New World Order” with the Jesuit agenda of the Illuminati as it was created and set up by Adam Weishaupt in 1776. We are in the final days of humanity as we know it. Evil men like George Soros and Pope Francis are advancing the cause of Adam Weishaupt to bring about a “New World Order.” It has been 242 years since Jesuit Adam Weishaupt, and the Rothschild’s teamed up in an ongoing war against humanity. Pope Francis and George Soros are bringing a war on the world through the disguise of concern for the poor of the earth. I remind you that countries in the world, where the Roman Catholic Church is dominant, you will find the world’s largest pockets of abject poverty.

Blessing,
